

SouthWest Congress of Optometry presents:

Curt Baxtrom, OD

Jason Clopton, OD

The Vestibular Course

Friday, Saturday, & Sunday

14-16 January, 2022

Drury Plaza, San Antonio, TX

Curt Baxtrom, OD

Ever since receiving his first pair of glasses in 6th grade, Dr. Baxstrom felt he wanted to be in a profession that made a difference in people's lives. During completion of his Doctorate in Optometry in 1984, he became very interested in the development of vision and its relationship with reading and learning. Professionally he is a Fellow of the American Academy of Optometry and the College of Optimetrists in Vision Development. He is a consultant to several school districts as well as Good Samaritan, St. Joseph's, Highline Community and Mary Bridge Children's Hospitals. He has lectured nationally and internationally on visual development, reading, dyslexia, head trauma, amblyopia and strabismus.

Jason Clopton, OD

Dr. Jason Clopton graduated from Southern College of Optometry in 1999. In 1998 he was awarded "Clinician of the Year" for his class by his professors and the InWave Optics Low Vision Award. After graduation he went into private practice. In 2001 he started the first pediatric and brain injury referral therapy center in Tennessee with his wife Heidi Clopton, OTR/L, a pediatric occupational therapist. Dr. Clopton has co-authored two chapters in the book "Visual Diagnosis and Care of the Patient with Special Needs"- First Edition. He has published journal papers and lectures throughout the US and at international meetings on pediatrics, eye movements, strabismus and amblyopia, vision/vestibular, coding and billing for neuro-rehabilitation, neurotransmitters, brain injury, concussions, and neuro-rehabilitation. In 2010 he founded/invented and is the CEO of EyeLign Products, LLC.
